

How to get water information affecting Northern California

NCWA
Northern California Water Association

We live in an age where we are challenged with how to manage the vast amounts of information that surrounds us every day. For those interested in water information affecting Northern California, the following provides some ideas on the different ways to be engaged and stay on top of water information. Recognizing the challenge with information management, we are always interested in any other thoughts or ideas on how we can help you through our communications programs and provide you with timely information.

Are you interested in becoming a leader in California Water and learning more?

There are several organizations that offer leadership programs we encourage you to explore:

- NorCal Water Leaders, offered by NCWA
- California Water Leaders, offered by the Water Education Foundation
- Ag Leadership Program, offered by the California Agricultural Leadership Foundation
- Rice Leadership Development Program, offered by USA Rice Federation
